

GEOGRAPHICAL NAMES OF THAILAND

The following list of geographical names has been compiled mostly on the basis of maps and dictionaries. The main sources of Thai-script spellings have been No. 25 (a road map of 2000, see the list of sources at the end of the document) and No. 14. Endonyms are given as the main entries, for international features names are usually given in English and French.

The document consists of two parts.

1. Main list of toponyms, with cross-references from all names in Roman script. An article contains name variants registered in the KNAB database, with the exception of most languages from outside Thailand. Additionally, English, German (old) and Russian variants (transcriptions) have been included.
2. List of sources provides bibliographic details of used sources, except usually those found on the Internet.

Additionally, Annex lists names in non-Roman scripts (Thai and Russian), arranged in their usual alphabetic order.

The data of the list (excluding most non-Roman script forms) is also available in the online database of KNAB at <http://www.eki.ee/knab/knab.htm>.

Spelling of geographical names

Thai names in the following list have been romanized according to the latest official romanization system (2000). The main differences between the new and old (1967) systems are as follows:

1. In the old version u and ue were not differentiated, both vowels were romanized as u (this also applied to diphthongs ua/uea, triphthongs uai/ueai, and the characters for ru/rue and lu/lue).
2. In the old version vowel combinations iu and ieo were used, these are now romanized io and iao, respectively.

Romanization was first introduced in Thailand (until 1939 and 1945–1949 Siam) in 1939 by the Royal Institute. Because of its complicated use of diacritics it was simplified in the 1950's when large-scale mapping of Thailand was begun. Since then it became adopted by other government agencies and was approved for international use in 1967.

In earlier sources Thai names have often been transcribed directly from the script, without considering pronunciation. Some of the characteristic features of old transcriptions include: 1) reflection of aspirated consonants by their unaspirated counterparts, i.e. k, p, t for kh, ph, th; 2) use of Indic values for certain consonants (e.g.: ก g, ข j, ท d, ธ dh, พ b, ภ bh, ว v); 3) syllable ending -rn to reflect a long vowel (e.g. -วิ, now romanized -on); 4) preservation of unpronounced consonant combinations, like sr (ศร, now romanized s). See examples below.

Type	Thai script	Old transcriptions	Modern romanization
1)	สุโขทัย	Sukotai	Sukhothai
2)	นครสวรรค์	Nagara Svarga	Nakhon Sawan
3)	เชียงใหม่	Chiew Larn	Chiao Lan
4)	นครศรีธรรมราช	Nagara Sridharmaraj	Nakhon Si Thammarat

Modern usage of Thai geographical names is fairly uniform. Sometimes still traditional transcriptions occur (Sri Nakarin, Vibhavadi, particularly for royal names, like Bhumiphol). There is some variation in writing Thai names as one word or as several words (Chai Nat vs. Chainat, etc.), here the form most current in Thai sources is preferred.

A difficult problem is the use of generic terms in names of populated places and administrative units. In Thai, the generic term is always before the main name element, e.g. Mae Nam Chao Phraya (mae nam 'river'), Khuean Sirinthon (khuean 'dam'). In names of administrative units (Changwat, Amphoe, King Amphoe, etc.) the term has been omitted in the following list, e.g. Kanchanaburi (as a province, not Changwat Kanchanaburi), Ao Luek (not Amphoe Ao Luek), Amnat Charoen (as a city within the province of the same name, officially Amphoe Mueang Amnat Charoen), Ban Dan (as a sub-district, officially Amphoe King Amphoe Ban Dan), etc. In names of rural populated places the usual generic term is ban 'village'. This has been preserved only when it forms part of the name of an administrative division, e.g. Ban Dung (officially Amphoe Ban Dung), but Pak Chan (not Ban Pak Chan).

② Language and other labels. ISO 639 codes for languages are used where possible:

Eur – in several European languages

bo – Tibetan

de – German

en – English

fr – French

km – Khmer

lo – Lao

mony – Mon

ms – Malay

my – Burmese

ru – Russian

shn – Shan

th – Thai

vi – Vietnamese

zh – Chinese

Other labels specify if the name is currently used, outdated, provide information on spelling or grammatical details:

€ – abbreviation

† – additional name form (in a source)

∇ – alternative transcription

☐ – colloquial name

j – erroneous name form

:: – estimated name form (not verified)

X – historical name

"m – masculine

; – not sure if the name of the same feature

‡ – obsolete name

§ – official name

≡ – parallel name

≪ – rarely used

*tr – transcription

* – unofficial name

!! – wrongly located name

③ Source of the name. Source number and page number(s) (after a colon), if appropriate. Additional symbols that are sometimes used after source numbers: # the name form is given as secondary (i.e. not the first) name form in a source; ~ the KNAB entry has been slightly orthographically modified (this applies mainly to the use of capital or small initials, the use of a hyphen, etc.). For source numbers see the list at the end of the document.

④ Type of the feature. KNAB codes are used, with some extensions to cover specific types:

a01 – independent country

a1 – province (changwat)

a11 – centrally governed city

a1sp – special city

a2 – district (amphoe)

a2ki – sub-district (king amphoe)

h1 – sea

h2 – lake, reservoir

h32 – bay, gulf

h4 – river

o1 – mountain

o1" – mountains

o14 – plateau

o21 – pass

p0 – populated place

p100 – capital

r1 – island

r1" – islands

r22 – peninsula

r23 – isthmus

r5 – region

⑤ Administrative unit(s) where the feature is situated in. ISO 3166 codes are used:

CN – China

⑥ Geographical coordinates of the feature. The coordinates have been taken from the GEOnet Names Server (see source No. 1 in the list), in their absence determined on the basis of source No. 25. If a feature has not been located, a question mark is inserted. For administrative features this field may contain the name of the capital.
⑦ Other name variants from different sources and in different languages.
